

About Mozillians

Mozillians are people who volunteer their time to advance the Mozilla mission. They're dedicated to promoting openness, innovation and opportunity on the Web and they form the core of our community.

This directory is a resource to make it easy for Mozillians to learn who is involved, what they do and how to connect with them.

Want to find Mozillians in Auckland for a meetup? Need an expert XPCOM hacker to review a patch? That's exactly what this site is for.

Create Profile

Privacy First

Privacy has been an important part of this directory from the very beginning. We want to make sure we provide Mozillians with the best experience possible, from the way the site is built to the way we vouch for new users before they can access data that should only be available to other Mozillians.

Get Involved

The community directory is also a community project and you are welcome to get involved to help us make it even better or to integrate it into other community tools. Get in touch with us on the Mozillians forums (link) to learn how.

About Mozillians

Mozillians are people who volunteer their time to advance the Mozilla mission. They're dedicated to promoting openness, innovation and opportunity on the Web and they form the core of our community.

This directory is a resource to make it easy for Mozillians to learn who is involved, what they do and how to connect with them.

Want to find Mozillians in Auckland for a meetup? Need an expert XPCOM hacker to review a patch? That's exactly what this site is for.

Create Profile

Privacy First

Privacy has been an important part of this directory from the very beginning. We want to make sure we provide Mozillians with the best experience possible, from the way the site is built to the way we vouch for new users before they can access data that should only be available to other Mozillians.

Get Involved

The community directory is also a community project and you are welcome to get involved to help us make it even better or to integrate it into other community tools. Get in touch with us on the Mozillians forums (link) to learn how.

About Mozillians

Mozillians are people who volunteer their time to advance the Mozilla mission. They're dedicated to promoting openness, innovation and opportunity on the Web and they form the core of our community.

This directory is a resource to make it easy for Mozillians to learn who is involved, what they do and how to connect with them.

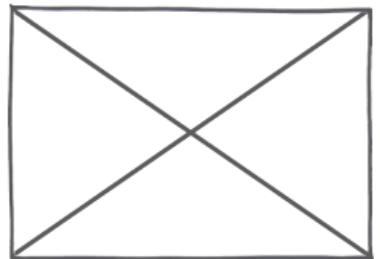

Want to find Mozillians in Auckland for a meetup? Need an expert XPCOM hacker to review a patch? That's exactly what this site is for.

Create Profile

Privacy First

Privacy has been an important part of this directory from the very beginning. We want to make sure we provide Mozillians with the best experience possible, from the way the site is built to the way we vouch for new users before they can access data that should only be available to other Mozillians.

Get Involved

The community directory is also a community project and you are welcome to get involved to help us make it even better or to integrate it into other community tools. Get in touch with us on the Mozillians forums (link) to learn how.

